Humanitarian Efforts for the welfare of Terai Storm
Victims

The recent unpredictable and shocking rainstorms that swept through parts of Southern Nepal (Bara and Parsa districts) have killed at least 34 people, more than 400 injured and many homeless. The killer storm entered entirely in the communities just ahead of dinner time, nearly 7.20 pm on Sunday March 31, 2019. So, many of the survivals were hungry and facing countless troubles.

In order to respond this disaster, Laxmi Pratisthan formed a 'Strom Response Coordinating Team' to coordinate all humanitarian efforts effectively. The team was responsible for identifying the actual needs on the ground, mobilizing resources to support flood affected people in coordination with government mechanisms including National Emergency Operation Centre (NEOC) under Ministry of Home Affairs, Local Governments and other humanitarian organizations.

Our Response:

As an immediate action, we started distributing relief materials, both food-items and other basic items according to victim's immediate needs.

On April 3, 2018, Storm Response coordinating team of Laxmi Pratishthan headed towards Pheta-1, Bholahi village with relief materials to provide emergencies stuffs such as food, clothes and hygiene kits to storm affected children and senior citizens to survive and to overcome from shock.

We distributed urgently needed goods (for 100 families). The relief materials included food items like bitten rice, bhujia, instant noodles as well as other basic stuffs like mosquito nets, buckets, utensils, hygiene kits etc.

With support from various generous individuals and our partner organization Health for Nepal, we were able to provide some relief in the wounds of the storm victims. It would never have been possible without your love, support and faith in us. We are indebted to all our helping hands who supported us in this pious campaign.
